

National student writing contest returns to raise funds for Habitat for Humanity Canada

Toronto, ON Since 2007, students in Grades 4, 5 and 6 have shared what home means to them in a national writing contest that is now open and accepting entries. Submissions are being accepted by mail or online at meaningofhome.ca from today until February 24, 2023.

Housing continues to be an important concern for all Canadians, including children, who understand how housing can provide their family with a safe place – a place to study, pursue their dreams and build a better life. Every student who enters the contest will help local Habitat for Humanity organizations across Canada build safe and affordable homes. Every student entry earns a $10 donation towards their local Habitat for Humanity. Three grand prize winners will each receive a $30,000 grant to help a local Habitat for Humanity build a place to call home for a family in need of affordable housing. In addition, nine runners up will receive a $10,000 grant for their local Habitat for Humanity. Winners will be announced by June.

Founded by Sagen<sup>™ 1</sup>, the Meaning of Home contest has raised over $2 million to help local Habitats across Canada build decent and affordable housing. Last year over 13,000 entries were received, the largest number of submissions Habitat Canada has ever received for this contest, and raised over $311,000.

"It is so wonderful to see the enthusiastic response each year from parents, teachers and especially the children who enter this contest and share what home means to them in their own words," says Julia Deans, President and CEO of Habitat for Humanity Canada. "We know that having a safe and affordable place to call home helps people build better lives and stronger communities."

"As a founding sponsor of this contest, we continue to be amazed at the creativity of each student who participates," says Stuart Levings, President and CEO, Sagen. "This contest provides students with an excellent opportunity to learn more about the importance of housing and to give back within their communities."

The Meaning of Home contest would not be possible without the generous support of Founding Sponsor Sagen™ and Awards Sponsors Urban Systems Foundation, Face to Face Games, and Home Trust.
